JobsNOW! works for San Francisco residents

Expanded Eligibility

San Francisco Human Services Agency recently expanded JobsNOW! to help more people get back to work by providing job seekers with access to hundreds of employers and job opportunities.

We match San Francisco residents looking for jobs with open positions and reimburse employers when they hire our job seekers.

"It's a genuine, really good job. It's a foot in the door to [working for] the City, and from there you can go anywhere. The fact that you can come from a position I was in and get a job working for the City is amazing."
— JobsNOW! job seeker

Help Every Step of the Way

Enter the job market with the confidence that comes from having the right tools at your fingertips. JobsNOW! sets you up for success.

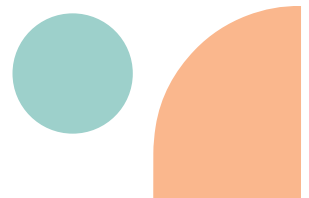

"The support they gave [has been the best part]. Everybody was supportive and helpful. If you needed help with something, they were willing to help you, show you, teach you."
— JobsNOW! job seeker

Our team will help you train, prepare, and apply for your new job. As a JobsNOW! participant, you'll stand out among job applicants and will receive support along the way! Employers will be motivated to hire you because SFHSA will cover the cost of your wages for up to six months.

Find the Right Fit

We also offer a voucher for job seekers, meaning your new employer can be reimbursed for your wages when they hire you.
